FAQ - TRAINING & PLACEMENTS

TPO
Training & Placement Officer : 9829199709
Email Id : tpojaipur@bitmesra.ac.in

Q. Where can I find the placement record?
A. Click here: https://bitmesra.ac.in/content/5/86

Q. Which students are eligible for placements?
A. The students of Final and Pre-final year are eligible for Full Time Employment and Internship respectively

Q. What are the minimum eligibility criteria to be considered for placements?
A. The minimum eligibility criteria as required by the T&P Division for you to be considered eligible for placements is that you must have secured at least 60% in classes 10th and 12th, have a CGPA 6 (and should not have more than four active backlogs in pre-final year). In addition to this, different companies have their own requirements based on CGPA, number of backlogs, board percentages, etc. and may shortlist students accordingly.

Q. What should I do to avail the opportunity for internship and placement?
A. You need to register on Placement Portal.

Q. I am not able to register on Placement Portal.
A. You need to contact the T&P Student coordinator or the faculty coordinator of your department.

Q. I have cleared my backlog(s) and need to update on the placement portal.
A. First you should contact your Faculty Coordinator and the ERP cell. Then you submit the details to the placement office.

Q. CGPA on the placement portal is not correct.
A. Please check with ERP and Faculty Coordinator then submit the details in the placement office.

Q. How to calculate my CGPA?
A. Add the credits you have obtained for each of the subjects you have appeared for till now. Divide it by the total number of credits you have appeared for. Round it off to two decimal places (i.e. 7.357 becomes 7.36 and 7.352 becomes 7.35) to obtain your CGPA. Multiply by 10 to obtain the percentage equivalent of CGPA.
In case you have any backlog that you have cleared, add the points obtained after clearing the paper and remove the previous points you had added for the backlog paper. Registering for a backlog paper does not mean that the backlog is cleared. Backlog refers to all the uncleared paper till the result is declared.
Ever backlog refers to sum of all the papers (present as well as earlier) in which the student has received a backlog irrespective of it is cleared or not.

Q. When is the TNP Portal open for editing the resume?
A. The portal generally remains closed but editing can be done in the data other than Academic scores. Student may download their resume any time.

Q. How I will know about any available opportunity or training programme?
A. You need to follow the Placement portal for any information related to placement /internship/training.

Q. Can I know the names of the companies visiting the campus?

A. We always notify the students once we get the confirmation from the potential recruiter about their recruitment visit. As we are always in touch with many recruiters and it is not possible to share their names once they have not confirmed their visit.

Q. What is our placement policy and What is the categorization of the companies?

A. Follow the table below for clarification:

Placed in a company of type Can sit for a company of type

Type 1 (Usually IT/Service Type) Type 2 and Type 3

Type 2 (Any recruiter other than Type 1) Type 3

Type 3 (Dream Company) Not eligible for placements anymore

So, if you are placed in a Type 2 company, you can no longer sit for any other Type 2 company, unless specified otherwise, and should you still apply for another Type 2 company, you will face strict action.

If you have a PPO or a Dream (Type 3) offer, then you can no longer sit for placements.

*For BIT Mesra campus only.

Q. I am not clear about JD and salary

A. You should attend the pre-placement talk by the recruiter; you may also get the information from placement portal.The companies generally keep a question answer session during the PPT (Pre- Placement Talk) which is the right platform to clarify your doubts. Students, if not satisfied with the answers may bring it to our notice and based on our judgment we may talk to the recruiter. Studentsshould refrain from Individual discussions with HR personnel.

Q. The company I wish to sit for has a minimum CGPA criterion of 7.0. I have a CGPA of 6.99. Can I apply for this company?

A. No, you cannot. 6.99 is not equal to a 7.0, and there shall not be an exception to this rule. The final screening is done before the joining by a team other than those who take care of interview processes. Even if the person from the recruiters' team allows you, there is every possibility that your offer will be cancelled at the time of joining by the on-boarding team. It is therefore advisable to participate in only those processes where you are satisfying the eligibility criteria laid down by the recruiter.

Q.The eligibility criterion for the recruiter is 7.00 and only few students with CGPA more than 7.00 are left to be placed. Can it be lowered to 6.5?

A. The CGPA cut offs are decided by the recruiters and generally they keep it uniform for all the institutes where from they are recruiting. The T&P Division always keep a close watch on the current dynamics and negotiate with the recruiters accordingly. Thus, if the CGPA criteria is notified as 7.0 it is decided only after the negotiation and may be considered as final.

Q. As per the eligibility criteria no current backlogs are allowed. I have 3 current backs, which are expected to be clear by the time of the recruiters visit.

A. The current back status as on the date of application will be considered, and you are strictly advised not to apply if you are not fulfilling the eligibility criteria at the time of application

Q. Is an F star the same as backlog?

A. F* means re- registration of the course while in the case of backlog only re- appear in examination.

Q. Britannia is visiting but not allowing the Production branch Last year TATA Motors have allowed EEE branch they are not allowing this year ABC com

A. The recruiters generally decide upon their requirements almost 6 months before the commencement of placement processes, based on their HR Audit. The Numbers of recruitment per branch are decided based on it. It is further broken-down institute wise where they have their plan of visit. If the numbers are less, they may select one branch from one institute and the other branches from other institutes.

Q. Maruti is coming for Mechanical and Computer Science Branch but not allowing Production and IT. Our course curriculum contains all relevant paper

A. The recruiters understand the nuances of different branches. Allowing or disallowing a particular branch, which has some papers in common with the allowed branch, it is entirely their call based on their own requirement.

Q. I registered for a Company, but due to some legitimate problem I cannot make it for the process. What should I do?

A. If on the portal the De-register link is active, then you must deregister. However, if the shortlist isout and you can no longer deregister, then you must submit an application clearly explaining the reason for your withdrawal before the process commences. No application will be accepted after the process of that particular company, and you will face the necessary action (like being debarred from the immediate next company) for absence from a registered process.

Q. How I can withdraw from a process after applying?

A. You may withdraw through the link given the portal. The same 'link for application' changes to the 'link for withdrawal' once you apply for the process. The link disappears after the last date of application. You can still withdraw by submitting an application in person to Training and Placement Division. This may be done till the process of selection starts. Dropping out or remain absconding from the process without intimation and prior approval, may attract disciplinary measures; suspension from the Placement process.

Q. I have applied and got shortlisted and now I want to withdraw.

A. You may withdraw from the process just after the PPT is over and before the beginning of the process, provided you have sufficient and justified reasons to do so. For those processes where online test is conducted few days before the PPT, we try to share all relevant details through notification based on which you may take your call.
On the exceptional events like miscommunication or suppression of fact by the recruiter etc., the student may apply for withdrawal and subject to approval from Training and Placement Division, they may withdraw from the process. In all other cases withdrawal after the short listing is not allowed, as you have already blocked one place. You are therefore advised to take a judicious call before applying for the process and other than the aforementioned exceptions Students are not allowed to withdraw once the selection process is initiated.

Q. I missed the date of registration for a company. Is there any way that I can still register?

A. No. Once you miss the deadline of registration for a company, there is no way that you can sit for its on-campus placement process. Therefore, make sure to regularly tune-in to the Portal for any updates related to on-campus recruitments.

Q. Is it mandatory to attend the PPT?

A. Yes. If you have registered for a company, then you must mandatorily attend its PPT, should the recruiter conduct one, else you will not be considered for its recruitment process. The whole purpose of a PPT is to render you an idea about the company and to provide you a platform to clear all your doubts like the CTC, job location, etc.

Q. Do I need to attend the PPT in formals?

A. Yes, you need to attend the PPT in formals. Even if the PPT is followed by some online test and the interviews are slated for the following day, still you must attend the PPT in formals.

Q. Do I need to bring my pen and paper for online tests?

A. Do I need to bring my pen and paper for online tests?

Q. What are the documents required during recruitment process?

A. Your academic credentials and CV. If anything, else will be required then you will be notified through portal.

Q. Can I bring my own, personally crafted, resume?

A. Normally recruiters as well as the T&P Department prefer unified resume formats for all candidates. However, you can, should you feel the need to, bring your personally crafted resume as well so long it is ratified by the T&P Department. However, it must be borne in mind that all information in it must be authentic. Any point found to be in contradiction to our records shall lead to your immediate disqualification from the applied process.

Q. If during an Online Test, due to some mishap, I am logged out or am unable to complete the test, then what are my options?

A. Options under such circumstances are limited. Usually, Online Tests are outsourced by the recruiting organization to various intermediate agencies. So contact is established with them, and if they can troubleshoot the problems, which they usually do in many cases, then you can resume the test, otherwise either alternate arrangements are investigated or, under unfortunate circumstances, you may end up losing that opportunity. Therefore, do make sure that the system you are using is in proper working condition with internet availability

Q. Can I get a printout of my resume from the TNP if I forget to bring a hardcopy of it for my interview?

A. No. You must bring your resume in hardcopy format along with a photograph (passport size) for any interview. You will not be furnished a hardcopy from the T&P. You are therefore advised to keep extra copies of your resume/CVs beforehand.

Q. I got placed but I did not receive any update or document from the recruiter or placement office.

A. Sometimes you receive the communication just before your joining.

Q. My performance in the process was better than that of my peer, still I have not been shortlisted. May I talk to the HR personnel?

A. You must honour the sanctity of the process and should never talk to the HR. If there were some grievances due to technical fault etc. it should be brought to our notice immediately, so that we may plead on your behalf. Students are strictly not allowed to talk to the recruiter in individual capacity unless advised by us or by the recruiter. The violation of this norm is viewed very seriously.

Q. Can I apply for offcampus placement after receiving on campus offer?

A. You should refrain yourself as it impacts the relationship with the recruiter and your juniors may also get affected if you do so. The company might drop the Institute from their hiring list.

Q. Can I reject an oncampus offer?

A. No. Your denial may make the stakeholders suffer and give a negative feedback or impression. If you are not interested in Internship/Placement, then please do not register

Q. I wish to apply for offcampus placement or internship. Will I get recommendation letter or NOC from placement office?

A. The application should come through proper channel with evidence of the offer/communication.

Q. Is it mandatory to attend CDP sessions and seminar talks?

A. Yes, if you have registered for either of these. CDP Sessions improve students' inter-personal skills and immensely help in preparing them for interviews through various mock placement exercises like GDs, PIs, etc. Attending them is strongly advisable, and once registered, absence from these will attract penalty.

Q. Will I get attendance if I miss classes due to a process?

A. Attendance is never given for missing a class. However, if a candidate is attending a campus process then a list of all such students will be provided to the respective faculties so that they can mark the same in their register with remarks.

Q. I could not get placement from the institute. What should I do?

A. Please register yourself on alumni portal during your last semesters. We upload jobs received by recruiters for pass-out students.

Q. Can I approach a company for placement or internship on behalf of my branch?

A. Yes. You should approach through your faculty coordinator.

Q. How can I get the information about past placement?

A. You may please visit the Institute website

Q. When does the recruitment process starts?

A. Full time employment starts in your 4th year and for summer internship in your 3 rd year.
